RETREAT DAY

If you would like to taste some Celtic spirituality, come along to a day retreat in Logie & St. John's (Cross) church on Saturday 26th October. 10.30am – 3pm (Coffee from 10am, please bring your own lunch)

Led by Rev. John Murray we will look at the life of Brendan, an Irish monk living around the same time as Columba, who reputedly sailed over the Atlantic, and returned to plant monasteries throughout the western seaboard of Ireland and Scotland.

Using his life as a vehicle, and viewing our lives as Christians as a journey, we will explore-

- whether to set off on a new journey
- trusting to set off into the unknown,
- the ideas of risk, adventure and the costs involved in a new journey
- how to share what we have learnt so far
- how to keep on journeying

The day will be a mix of talks, opportunities to share, discussion with an optional walk to the riverside. Finishing with Communion.

If you can't manage the whole day, just come to what you can. To register, please contact Grant Maclaughlan at Gmaclaughlan@churchofscotland.org.uk.
